

SONS REVIVE FATHER’S DREAM -- PUBLISH “LIFE” AFTER DEATH

After 10 years of writing and refining his life’s work, Anthony J. Fisichella, died, on All Saints Day in 2004. Now, after 18 months of editing, his sons, Douglas and Tony, are prepared to release His treatise on the life of Christ.

“My Dad used to say, what death? There is no such thing as death.” Remarked Douglas, “Yet he is gone.” Anthony Fisichella, was an internationally successful lecturer, metaphysician and biblical scholar. He spent more than half of his life studying and teaching theosophy and focused a great deal of his attention on the nature and mechanism of the human soul and the constitution of man. His studies led him to some profound conclusions. Recall’s Tony jr. “The most important lessons he ever learned were vividly depicted in the life of Christ and he had to write about it. His unfulfilled wish was to see it published.” “We built wonderful lives with our father’s guidance, and he left us something to share with the world.”

One Solitary Life, The Vision the Journey and the Quest is a pilgrimage into the mystical and the miraculous. In it, Mr. Fisichella explores the nature and cause of Man’s appearance on Earth, culminating in the emergence of the magnificent being who has profoundly influenced mankind for 2000 years. Honoring his wishes, his editor’s and sons, Douglas and Anthony are publishing his work posthumously. For more information, call Tony Fisichella Jr. at 321-751-2404.
